Report on attending conference "XXVI Congress of the International Society of Biomechanics",
Brisbane, Australia- Dr Bela Agarwal(PT)

I had the opportunity to attend the "XXVI Congress of the International Society of Biomechanics" at Brisbane, Australia from 23rd -27th July 2017.

Preconference tutorials on MRI Imaging and Musculoskeletal Modeling were attended on 23rd July. MRI tutorial conducted by Dr Lynne Bilson was extensive and described the use of MR Imaging techniques like anatomical imaging, imaging of moving organs, mechanical properties of tissues and MRI elastography to enable identification of musculoskeletal and neurological dysfunction. Personal discussion with Dr Lynne regarding knee articular cartilage imaging which is a component of my PhD project entitled "Effect of squatting on knee articular cartilage in healthy adults" was held where she too was of the opinion that it is a challenging task due to the thin articular cartilage. Additionally it was discussed that currently there are no means to perform MRI in squat posture due to bore size of the machines. Techniques like fluoroscopy have been used for hyper-flexion postures like kneeling however space constraint to perform movements still poses a challenge. Musculoskeletal modeling tutorial and Open sim tutorials provided an overview of use of soft ware's available for musculoskeletal modeling, Bond graphs and musculoskeletal algorithm which are aiming to encompass metabolic functions as well.

Scientific sessions with paper presentations in clinical biomechanics, musculoskeletal disorders, neurological rehabilitation and all keynote lectures were attended on the following days. A poster on "Influence of Daily Squatting Exposure on Kinematics of Deep Squat" was on display on 24-25th July 2017 which provided the opportunity to discuss with researchers interested in the area of knee osteoarthritis movement dysfunction. It was interesting to note that difficulty in squatting was not considered as a potential problem as the need for adopting the posture was not prevalent in the country. Meeting researchers with similar interests led to the discussion of forming a "knee interest group". Detailed discussions on my PhD work was held with Dr Mary Rodgers, a fellow of ISB and Dr Jab van Deen who were assigned as mentors to me. They showed keen interest in my work and provided feedback on musculoskeletal biomechanics.

Scientific session on thoracic cage biomechanics was attended and networking with researchers in the field with an objective of pursuing collaborative projects in the future was explored. We also had the opportunity to iron out methodological and equipment concerns with various manufacturers of motion analysis systems like Vicon, Delsys, Myon, Novel and COSMED. Personally meeting them helped further the environment of further personalized support from their research teams.

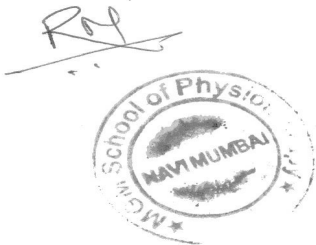

Overall the conference provided a platform to view the current trends in human movement analysis, reflect on activities at MGM Center of Human Movement Science and create networks for further work in the area of interest.

We had the opportunity to visit University of Sydney on 28th July during which we interacted with Prof. Katherine Refshauge, Dean of Allied Health Sciences, Dr Claire Hiller – from Musculoskeletal Research team, Dr Peter Cartwright – Sports Science team, Dr Alicia from movement analysis team and Dr Sinclair

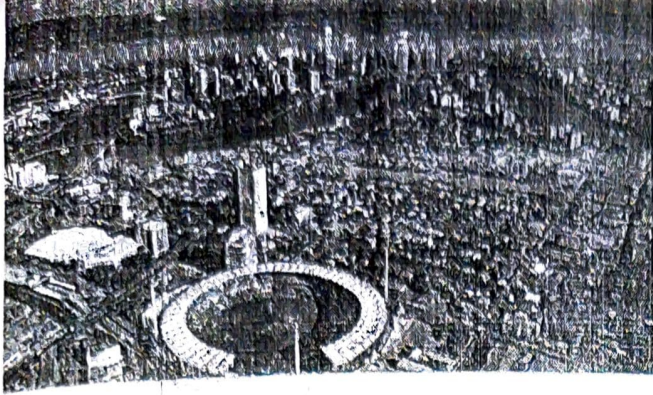

Meliana .We also visited the movement analysis laboratory, climate control laboratory and exercise training laboratory. We participated in discussions on potential collaboration in the area of sports physiotherapy and dance biomechanics.

The experiences were enriching and lead to broadening of perspectives as well as enabled meeting researchers and pioneers working on science of musculoskeletal biomechanics. May I take this opportunity to thank the Institute for permitting me to attend the conference and providing support for the same.
