EASD European Association
for the Study of Diabetes

The European Association for the Study of Diabetes, EASD, is an Association of academics and scientists working together to encourage diabetes research in Europe. The Association is based on individual membership and embraces scientists, physicians, laboratory workers, nurses and students from all over the world who are interested in diabetes and related subjects.

As an academic society, EASD maintains co-operation with industry and other institutions conducting and funding diabetes research. Since its foundation in 1965, EASD has been organizing an Annual Meeting which has now become the largest international annual conference on diabetes worldwide. Although the EASD and the Annual Meetings have grown dramatically, EASD is still driven by the academic traditions of the founding members.

Along with EFSD, the European Foundation for the Study of Diabetes, the EASD seeks to support the highest quality research to find a cure for all types of diabetes and associated complications, to prevent their onset and to enhance awareness in Europe of the severity and magnitude of this devastating disease.

"International Convention on Challenges in Medical Education"

Welcome Note..

Dear colleagues,

India has a large number of Medical Colleges (over 350), which churn about 40,000 medical graduates a year. Today's medical graduates face new challenges, one of them being, a change in disease pattern from infectious to non-infectious diseases. Are these medical students getting distracted from gaining clinical acumen in their rat race of gaining a post-graduation seat?

On other hand, we see an over-increasing inflow of overseas patients who come to India to avail "economical" but "specialized" treatment. On the flip side a large segment of our fellow citizens are unable to avail tertiary care as they find it unaffordable.

Our doctors are amongst the best in the world, but then how do we explain our unacceptability of high infant and maternal mortality rates?

Are these and other health related issues a reflection of our Medical Education system? Do "We", the "Medical Educators" instill a proper vision and mission in our protégé?

Does the paradigm of today's Medical Education system need to be revised to create the generation next of our medical graduates?

In order to understand these challenges in Medical Education a International Convention on Challenges in Medical Education – 2015 (ICCME 2015) is being organized under the aegis of Mahatma Gandhi Mission's Institute of Health Sciences, Kamothe, Navi Mumbai (Deemed University, established u/s of UGC Act 1956) at MGM Medical College and Hospital, Aurangabad, Maharashtra, India from 9th to 11th January 2015.

Ellora Caves

Ellora is an archaeological site, 30 km (19 miles) from the city of Aurangabad in the Indian state of Maharashtra, built by the Rashtrakuta rulers. Well known for its monumental caves, Ellora is a World Heritage Site. Ellora represents the epitome of Indian rock-cut architecture. The 34 "caves" – actually structures excavated out of the vertical face of the Charanandri hills – being Buddhist, Hindu and Jain rock cut temples and monasteries; were built between the 5th century and 10th century. Dear friends & Colleagues

"Welcome To MSR Conference 2015"

Infertility is a major problem faced by married woman in India as the main purpose of marriage is assumed to be reproduction. If this purpose is not met with, a woman's life becomes insecure socially and mentally. It is difficult that this felt need will be met with present infrastructure and expertise.

This conference aims in guiding the medical professionals in planning the Infertility management at different levels, like primary screening of causes of infertility, treatment options and referral of the selected group of couples to the expertise in Infertility Management. The workshops have been arranged accordingly so that, one will be guiding the experts who are practicing and treating infertility patients as a part of their practice and one for the group of doctors who are practicing only infertility within specialized units.

So enjoy this academic feast and be the lighthouse for the infertile couples.

ORGAN DONATION & CADAVER TRANSPLANT "A GIFT FOR LIFE"

This conference will bring experts from all the Health care Professionals in order to share their insights and views for organ donation and cadaver transplant.

Conference objectives includes :

1. Creating awareness among health professional about organ donation and cadaver transplant
2. Promoting organ donation for transplantation as a treatment for life threatening disease
3. Updating the knowledge about the legal and ethical aspects of organ donation and cadaver transplant.
4. Forming an alliance with companies and service organizations.
5. Building a foundation of public trust and confidence and to instill a willingness among people for organ donation.

Organ transplantation is the most preferred treatment modality for end stage organ disease and organ failure. However, the need for the transplants is high and the gap between organs available for transplantation and the number of patients waiting for a transplant is widening globally.

In India, like other developed countries, there is a chronic shortage of organs available for transplantation. This shortage is primarily attributed to a limited number of organ donations in our country.

The prerequisites for the success of a transplantation program include awareness, positive attitude of the public toward organ donation and consent by relatives for organ donation in the events of brain death, for which the health care professionals play an important role.

In this conference, we hope the participants will join us in creating awareness and supporting this wonderful cause of organ donation and cadaver transplantation by becoming an organ donor!
